Location

This villa is a stone's throw from Ubud's Royal Palace and close to Ubud's favourite treasures and attractions. While the property itself is very private, a vast, bustling local market is only 300m from the front door while a delightful variety of high quality restaurants can be found in and around the centre of town.

Things to do

- From local warungs and great bakeries, to 5-star resort hotels and the award-winning Mozaic, there's a good variety of restaurants and bars in and around Ubud should you want a change of dining scene.
- Go on a guided trek through the Ayung river valley past farmers tending the rice terraces. If you're in Bali at the right time, don't miss the chance to witness a full moon ceremony at a local temple.
- Enjoy a cold Bintang beer from one of the viewing platforms as you watch thousands of white herons come in to roost near the village of Petulu every evening just before sunset.
- The many spas and meditation centres of Ubud offer a wide range of eastern and western therapies from reiki to acupuncture, and yoga to herbal scrubs.
- No visit to Ubud is complete without seeing at least one traditional dance performance. This is a great opportunity to see classic Hindu legends being told through dancers in colorful, Balinese costumes.
